Additional Information

Individuals

Canadian taxpayers are eligible for the direct deposit enrolment service. If an individual has never filed a tax return with the CRA, they are not eligible to sign up for the CRA direct deposit service through their financial institution. The direct deposit service is strictly for individuals using their SIN to register.

Small Businesses

The CRA has confirmed that the that Canada Emergency Response Benefit only supports SIN-based payouts and are not applicable to loans currently being provided for small businesses with a Business Number. Small businesses with a Business Number will be able to update their Direct Deposit information through their CRA business portal. Payments Canada will circulate CRA's link to 'my business' account where business can sign up.

Fraud Prevention

You can verify that a payment has been received by checking your banking statement on the account you used to sign up for direct deposit. Your payment amount will be deposited directly into the account. You can also confirm that the payment was sent by the CRA by logging into CRA's My Account.

Rockglen-Killdeer Credit Union or the CRA will never send you an email, text or Interac e-Transfer® to a link asking for your personal information to receive your benefit payment or refund. These are scams and taxpayers should never respond to these fraudulent communications or click on any of the links provided. Direct deposit helps reduce the risk of mail fraud and delays caused by a postal disruption.
